4.1.1. Enlisted members who become surviving sons or daughters after having enlisted or after having been inducted may apply for and promptly shall be discharged or separated except under the following circumstances:

4.1.1.1. When the member has court-martial charges pending against him or her, has been convicted by court-martial with appellate review in process, or is serving a sentence to confinement (or is otherwise undergoing punishment) imposed by court-martial.

4.1.1.2. When the member is being processed for involuntary administrative separation for cause.

4.1.2. Commissioned officers and warrant officers shall not be released from active duty because of their qualifying as surviving sons or daughters, unless they entered Service by induction under P. L. 92-129 (reference (b)).

4.1.3. The separation eligibility provisions in subparagraphs 4.1.1. and 4.1.2., above, shall not apply during a war or national emergency declared by the Congress.

An individual who, having been advised of the provisions of subparagraphs 4.1.1. and 4.1.2., above, enlists, reenlists, or voluntarily extends his or her active duty period after having been notified of the family casualty on which the surviving status is based shall be considered as having waived his or her rights for separation as a surviving son or daughter.

4.2.2. A member who has waived his or her right to a separation as a surviving son or daughter, as provided in subparagraph 4.2.1., above, may request reinstatement of that status at any time. However, a request for reinstatement shall not be granted automatically, but shall be considered on the merits of the individual case.
